Cupid.

Have you ever seen the little "god of love,"
The little fellow trimmed all up with wings, (They sometimes call him Cupid, But I think him what a stupid.)
With a quiver on his back—And of arrows quite a pack—
And his hair all curled in little bits of rings?
So when people writ of love, as they do,
Of his playful pranks they very often tell, (But between you and I Such stuff is rather dry.)
How has he pierced this heart, And it's given them a smart.
And they fear that never again they will be well.

Oh! the wicked, wicked elf, with his wings And his darts, and his arrows, and his love, (Oh! this love is trashy stuff, And of it I've had enough.)
Is a queer little midget—and he's given a Adge,
And he drives me crazy near, 'twixt my joy And my fear.

Oh! to catch this little imp I oft have tried,
And as often as I tried have I failed, (But I'll never give it up, Nor mind slips 'twixt lip and cup.) For he always did delude me, and I fear he will elude me,
And to me he never will come, for he's ever flying from.

Though at him I have often stormed and railed,
Ah! this tiny witching boy, treats my heart Just like a toy,
And my heart, my heart is torn in shreds and strings, (That sounds very well in rhyme, But it hurts me all the time.)
And in sorrow and lament, all my days and nights are spent,
And my dreams are full of grief—so sleep brings me no relief.

For over me this impish elf whirls and sings.
Oh! this awful, scheming Puck, has caused me such wretched luck,
That I feel like breaking all his little bones, (Guess you'll say this ain't refined, But it's just what's in my mind.)
And I'd like to snub his nose, for he's caused me many woes,
And I'd like to black his eyes, to cancel all my sighs,
And to pay for all my heartfelt, mournful groans,

Joan.

Humorous.

ONCE upon a time, before the negro had acquired another than a pecuniary value, an old colored divine who was holding forth to an audience of his own race on the watchful care and goodness of the Almighty, and endeavoring to impress upon his hearers the value of a Christian darning in the eyes of heaven, illustrated the point thus: "My brethren, though you can buy seven sparrows for a farthing, de Almighty has a book to put down where every one of dem falls. Now if de Almighty takes so much care of de sparrows dat cost only one-seventh of a farthing, what you 'sposse he do for you a thousand dollar nigger?"

A ROMANTIC youth, promenading in one of our fashionable streets, picked up a thimble. He stood a while meditating upon the probable beauty of the owner, when he pressed it to his lips saying:

"Oh! that it were the fair cheek of the wearer!"
Just as he had finished, a stout elderly negro looked out of an upper window, and said:
"Massa, jist please to bring dat fimble of mine in de entry—I jist drop it."

A BEAUTIFUL girl stepped into a shop to buy a pair of mits. "How much are they?" "Why," said the gallant but impudent clerk lost in gazing upon her sparkling eyes and ruby lips, "you shall have them for a kiss." "Agreed," said the young lady pocketing the mits and her eyes speaking daggers, "and as I see you give credit here, charge it on your books and collect it in the best manner you can." So saying she tripped out at the door.

An old toper said that he could when blindfolded tell each of several kinds of liquors. When brandy, whisky, gin and other drinks were presented to him, he pronounced correctly what they were. At length a glass of pure water was given to him; he tasted, and paused, tasted again, and again considered, and shook his head. At last he said, "Gentlemen, I give it up; I am not used to that sort of liquor."

"BRIDGEY, what have you done with the cream? Those children cannot eat skim milk for breakfast." "Sure, marm, and it isn't meeself that would be after givin' the cream to yers. I tuck that off and gave it to the cats."

A YOUNG lady who was rebuked by her mother for kissing her intended, justified the act by quoting the passage, "whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them."

FLATTERY is like cologne water—to be smelt of, not swallowed.

Little Spring Sprout, a very young son of Mrs. Timothy Hay, residing on her farm a short distance out of town, was badly men-gled the other day by being run over by a mowing machine which a man was taking to a barn near by. We did not learn further particulars. It is to be hoped he was cured.

"Give me a pound of oysters," said a man to an oyster vender who was going by. "I sell by measure, not by weight," replied the oysterman. "Then give me a yard of them," said the man. The vender shook his head dubiously, as he passed on.

"HUSBAND, I don't know where that boy got his bad temper. I am sure not from me!" "No, my dear, for I don't find that you have lost any."

STATE ITEMS.

Gen. M. C. Butler's political disabilities have been removed by Congress.

The Columbia police have donned their uniforms—dark blue sack coat and pants.

Timothy Hurl has been appointed Superintendent of all United States public property in this State.

The County Auditor of Fairfield, advertising the sale of more than forty-five thousand acres of land for unpaid taxes.

A passenger and freight depot, to be used by all the railroads in Columbia, will soon be erected.

Dr. R. C. Griffin has been appointed one of the assistant Census Takers for Edgefield County.

Capt. E. H. Youngblood, of Edgefield County, will make a bag of cotton to the acre on his plantation.

The contract for building the Williamsburg County Jail was awarded to Mr. J. S. Beech, at $13,900.

The people of Pickens County will vote on the Air-Line Railroad question on the 26th inst.

A colored woman in Anderson lost her life, week before last, in attempting to start a fire with kerosene oil.

T. Stobo Farrow, formerly of Spartanburg County, but now of Atlanta, Ga., is on a visit to his old home.

Private Joseph Murray, Company C, 8th Regiment, United States Infantry, died at Spartanburg on Friday, 15th inst.

DeLarge proposes starting a paper in Charleston at an early day, for, as report hath it, aiding the colored people in securing their share of the State and Federal offices.

A new Masonic lodge has been dedicated at New Prospect, Spartanburg County. The dedicatory address was delivered by Maj. D.
R. Duncan.

The Keowee Courier advises the citizens of Oconee to hold out as many inducements as possible to the Augusta and Hartwell Railroad Company to come to Wallula.

The Columbia correspondent of the Charleston Republican chronicles an increase of fifty per cent in the freight carried over the Greenville Railroad, and a larger passenger increase in traffic.

The Columbia Phoenix says that arms and ammunition are still being distributed over the State. 10,000 rounds of fixed ammunition have recently been sent to Rock Hill by order of Governor Scott.

Cotton, we learn, says the Marion Star of the 20th inst., is doing well, but corn is "firing" from want of rain. The windy, dry and hot weather for the last few days is not at all favorable to grain crops.

The Marion Star announces the death of Mr. W. J. Altman, which occurred on the 4th inst. He was lieutenant in company "I," 21st Regiment, S. C. V., and did gallant and distinguished service for his country in the late war.

The raising of fish has proven to be very profitable. It is well worthy of the attention of the people of South Carolina.

There are numerous localities in different sections of the State where fish ponds can be economically constructed.

The Air-Line Railroad.
The meeting of the stockholders of the Georgia Air-Line Railroad and the Air-Line Railroad in South Carolina, on the 24th of June in Atlanta, Ga., again calls to mind the great line which is now being constructed between Charlotte, N. C., and Atlanta, Ga., a distance of 225 miles. At this meeting the two companies were consolidated under the name of the Atlanta and Richmond Railway Company. The management will consist of a president and twelve directors. In the election, which took place for officers of the consolidated line, Colonel S. S. Buford, the President of the Richmond and Danville and Richmond and York River Railroads, and who for three years past has been in charge of this line, (having organized the enterprise), was elected President by acclamation; General A. Russell, of Atlanta, first Vice-President, and R. T. McAden, Esq., of Charlotte, N.
C., second Vice-President. It has been determined to prosecute the work vigorously from both termini, viz: Atlanta and Charlotte. Between six and eight hundred hands are now, and have been for months past, engaged on the Georgia portion of the work, and a much larger force is being organized for the work in North and South Carolina. The clouds which hovered over this important work, have been dissipated, a contract having been made with an experienced and energetic contractor of New York, Mr. P. P. Dickson, to complete the whole line from Charlotte to Atlanta in two years. The President, in his address to the stockholders of the consolidated Company, said that he expected, during the year 1875, to run a train without change from the waters of Chesapeake Bay to Atlanta, Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans. The greatest enthusiasm is manifested in all the counties of Georgia and South Carolina through which the Air-Line is expected to pass, and are subscribing liberally to the work. The line is to run from Charlotte, north of Yorkville, via Spartanburg and Greenville, S. C., Gainesville, Ga., &c., to Atlanta—two hundred and twenty-five miles. The road is now in operation from Atlanta eastward in Georgia twenty miles, and thirty-three miles more in that State are under construction, which it is expected will be completed by January 1876.

B. T. Sage, Esq., the chief engineer of the Air-Line, is now in Charlotte, N. C., making his arrangements for a vigorous prosecution of the work; and as all the capital required is now ready, it is a foregone conclusion that the Road will be built in the time specified.

THUNDER STORM.—REV. DR. HIGGS, affected by LIGHTNING.—A fierce thunder storm, accompanied by a heavy rain, burst upon the city last night about nine o'clock. The flashes of lightning followed each other in rapid succession, and the "elemental war" raged with great fury for nearly an hour.

Many of the street gutters were flooded, and the streets and sidewalks were in several places submerged.

The Rev. Dr. Higgs, while sitting in the piazza at his residence, was affected by one of the strongest flashes of lightning, and became insensible. He was immediately carried to his bed, and a physician sent for.

After an hour's unconsciousness he revived, but still suffered severely from the shock.

We learn that at twelve o'clock to-day he was in a very precarious condition at the residence of Mr. L. Chapin, 13 Westworth street. The physician in attendance, although having paid four visits to the Doctor during the morning, expressed himself unable to give any opinion in his case until later in the day. We understand, however, that he has stated there is every indication of congestion of the brain. [Charleston Daily Republican, July 14.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.
The Georgia bill, as approved by the President, provides that the State of Georgia, having complied with the reconstruction acts, and the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States having been ratified in good faith by a legal Legislature of said State, it is hereby declared that the State of Georgia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States; but nothing in this act contained shall be construed to deprive the people of Georgia of the right to an election for members of the General Assembly of said State, as provided for in the constitution thereof, and nothing in this or any other act of Congress shall be construed to effect the term to which any member of the General Assembly elected, as prescribed by the constitution of the State of Georgia.

Rev. Dr. JOHN A. BROADBENT, of South Carolina, preached last Sunday morning in the Baptist Church here, of which he was, in former years, the pastor. A large congregation heard the sermon, which was, of course, listened to with attentive interest.

Four preachers are as effective as he, and the Virginia church was unfortunately losing him. We have heard several young ministers of his church who endeavored to aid the simple, and we may say, pathetic style which distinguishes his preaching, but without success. We learn that the Dr. will shortly leave for a European tour—He will carry hence the hearty "God Speed" of a large number of friends of all denominations of Christians.

WHAT RUSSIA SAYS.—Russia, as we are informed by a special telegram from St. Petersburg, entertains a strong feeling against France on the Spanish-German question.

The czar's Cabinet, it is said, fears that Napoleon meditates the making of an aggressive war in Europe, and then by force of arms restoring the Bourbons to Spain.

This news is really important; important to Germany and to the world at large.

virtues of Roots, Herbs and Bark which

Equality Life Insurance Company of Virginia.
Principal Office, No. 1015, Main Street, Richmond, Va.
REASONS why every one should insure in the Equality Life Insurance Company,
of Virginia:
1st. It is more liberal to the Insured than any other company, and will eventually become Purely Mutual and belong to the insured.
2d. It insures the most numerous class of patents, who are the insured. Consequently they are continually getting the benefit of the rapid accumulation of the Company, the money being invested by the Board of Directors amongst the insured.

3d. The assets of this Company are as liberal as other companies who declare dividends at the end of the second, third and fourth years, but this Company at the end of the first and every year.
